The Department of Visualization at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas, invites applications for a full-time non-tenure track position at the rank of Lecturer. The initial term of appointment is for the Fall 2016 through Spring 2017 academic year with the expectation of yearly re-appointment.

Responsibilities include teaching courses covering the foundations of design and drawing. The subjects include two-dimensional design, fundamentals of line, color, form, texture, shape and composition, and rendering using a variety of media and free-hand techniques with subjects including still life and the human figure. These courses primarily serve the undergraduate majors in the Bachelor of Science in Visualization program and the Minor in Art.

Applicants should hold a Master of Fine Arts in Studio Art or the equivalent, with previous undergraduate teaching experience at the college level. The department is especially interested in individuals who have experience with diverse populations who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at TAMU through their research, teaching, and/or service. Candidates from under-represented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Application Deadline is June 6, 2016, or until the position is filled. Send electronic letter of application, curriculum vitae and the names and contact information of three references to email: search@viz.tamu.edu.

The Department of Visualization offers a unique collegial environment with a faculty composed of historians, traditional and new media artists, designers, computer scientists, and psychologists. For questions, email search@viz.tamu.edu.

Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Texas A&M University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, veteran’s status or any other legally protected status in employment.